Effective immediately, new event policies have been established for PacifiCorp’s Lewis River recreation sites. These policies have been developed to ensure that our sites remain available for general recreation use during our peak recreation season as intended, while still providing the opportunity for the public to host certain organized recreation activities and events.

Please note that many activities are no longer allowed unless permitted by PacifiCorp. The new policies are available at www.pacificorp.com/community/recreation/washington.html

The policies provide specific information regarding what type and size of recreation events can be held, and where, during peak recreation season.

The policies also provide specific information about the requirements and issuance process of Special Use Permits for events outside of the peak recreation season. To seek Special Use Permits, please complete an application at www.pacificorp.com/community/recreation/washington.html
